Cross-modality

TRA position versus the 4 main transport research related conferences

TRA provides the arena for:

- Research, industry, public administrations, transport operators, users and other stakeholders across all transport modes
- Policy makers framing research and transport policy
- New ideas, technological solutions and new business models
- Experiencing the future of transport and mobility
- Mobilising the best brains and exchanges of information and best practices

Keep the same structure, the new technological innovative content, attract all the transport related stakeholders, ease the business to business (B2B) and networking activities from research to deployment (SETRIS Deliverable(D5.9) Draft
