

Re-Entry M4 Toll Plaza

The M4 Motorway has one mainline Toll Plaza located between Junctions 8 and Junctions 9 on the M4. There are two further toll ramps located on the western ramps at Junction 9 at Enfield.

In accordance with the Toll Bye-Laws, where a vehicle has passed through a Toll Collection location and within a 3 hour period passes through a second Toll Location in the same direction of travel, the driver of such a vehicle shall be exempt from paying the toll at the second Toll Collection location.

In practical terms a driver travelling from Dublin who pays a toll at the mainline toll plaza, and exits at Enfield, can within 3 hours, continue his journey westbound by re-entering the motorway through the Enfield toll ramps without further charge.

In order to avail of this re-entry facility westbound, the driver must request a re-entry ticket from the cashier in a manned lane at the first toll plaza where the initial toll charge is paid. When you reach the unmanned Enfield toll ramp, please press the re-entry button on the automatic machine and your re-entry transit should be granted. Failing this, please press the assistance button, which will connect you to the 24hr Toll Supervisors control room.

Similarly a driver travelling from the west who exits at the Enfield toll ramps and who pays a toll, can within 3 hours, continue on his/her journey Eastbound by re-entering the motorway through the Enfield interchange and will not pay a further charge at the mainline toll plaza.

In order to avail of this re-entry facility Eastbound, the driver must request a re-entry ticket from the automatic machine at the unmanned Enfield toll ramp where the initial toll charge is paid. This re-entry ticket must be provided to a cashier at the mainline toll plaza.

Please note that a re-entry ticket does not entitle free passage in the opposite direction to the direction of travel for which it is issued.
